

HOME CIRCLE COLUMN.

A Column Dedicated To Tired Mothers
As They Join The Home Circle
At Evening Tide.

If you would have your wife an angel, treat her like one.

Ever bear more than one kind of trouble at a time. Some people bear three kinds: All they had, all they have now, and all they expect to have.

An hour of triumph comes at last to those who watch and wait.

There is a crop that the household ought to reap every day. It is the harvest of happiness. But it is a crop that must first be sown. Have you planted the seed?

A child needs disciplining when it is healthy as well as in good. Some people imagine that a child cannot be petted and indulged too much when in delicate health, but it is a mistake. Ye, mothers, we beg of you do not let your child's disposition be more impaired than its constitution by a spell of sickness.

Is it right for the father of a family of small children to have to leave them alone, as they so often do, to go out to scrub and wash to earn a miserable livelihood for himself and them, and alas, often also for him who promised to cherish and protect her for life, but does not do it? It is a stain and disgrace upon the manhood of this country that they take so little interest in this unprotected class of helpless ones. They are very merciful some ways a man cannot drive his horse without a whip, but he may let his wife and children go barefooted without fear of interference; he must not overwork or half starve his beast, without being justly amenable to the law, but his wife and children may be overworked and underfed, and half starved, and it is nobody's business they must look out for themselves. There are more neglected women and children right here in this christian country than we like to own to.

Never put your arm through the neck of a jug. Is a piece of advice given by an exchange to the young ladies. Most of them ought to know what it means without further explanation. A woman is never so foolish as when she hopes to reform a man after marriage. "He loves me," she trustingly says, and because her own love is pure she expects the pure article in return. Poor girl, you do not know the witchery of the eye nor the strong hands which bind the soul of the man to whom your happiness is entrusted. True enough, he is good hearted and kind, except when in liquor, but as his slaves increase his kindness decreases. While seeking for some one to shield him in his helplessness, he may indeed flatter you that you only can redeem him. After you become his wife you may well wish for an iron grave. Many an error it hides, only a heartache it cures. But the lack of love soon follows protracted indulgence in folly. Young ladies, never put your arm through the handle of a jug.

In the rush and hurry of modern life do we think as much as we ought of the happiness of those who are growing old. They have lost so much! Their youth, often their health, most of the friends and companions who started with them on life's journey; and yet we often grudge them the brightness and joy we might so easily put into their lives. We will not stay to hear the recollections of old and happy days which they love to tell us; we let them see so plainly that their day is over, and ours has come! That those who have borne the burden and heat of the day, toiled and struggled and worn themselves out for others, should be left to feel lonely and neglected is sorrowful. We can and ought, each and all, in our own place and way, do something to bring the glow of summer and the remembrance of the days of roses and love into the lives fast nearing their winter and their end.

COMMENDABLE RELIGION.

We want a religion that softens the step, and tunes the voice to melody, and fills the eye with sunshine, and checks the impatient exclamation and harsh rebuke—a religion that is polite, deferential to superiors, courteous to inferiors and considerate to friends; a religion that goes into the family, and keeps the husband from being cross when the dinner is late, and keeps the wife from fretting when he tracks the floor with his muddy boots, and makes him mindful of the scraper and the door mat; keeps the mother patient when the baby is cross, and amuses the children as well as instructs them; cares for the servants besides paying them promptly; projects the honey-moon into the harvest moon, and makes the happy home like the Easter fig tree, bearing in its bosom at once the beauty of the tender blossom and the glory of the ripened fruit. We want a religion that shall interpose between the ruts and the gullies and the rocks of the highways of life, and the sensitive souls, who are traveling over them.

LOOK HERE, BOYS.

It has been most truly stated, "The fence lends enchantment," and the city looks well from the old farm. Perhaps you do not see things and things, but they grow in the city thicker than on the farm. Home discipline may be hard to bear, but in it are some of all success. Parents are midway in the temple of life, and certainly must know more than those standing on the threshold. It is always safe to listen to the voice of wisdom and affection. You may not be permitted to control all things at home, but please remember before seeking the large liberty of the city that you can control nothing there. You may wear store clothes, but you must be the servant of all. Liberty and ease are the fruit of toil. The boy that knows more than his parent's goes to the wall in the city. Success depends upon industry, obedience, economy and purity. Brown hands, clean tongue and hearts are in great demand in the city. A country loafer becomes a city loafer and neither country or city has use for either. The earthquake never breaks the ground so as to leave gold at their feet. Boys who present noble and many lives for recommendations may win anywhere. In the city you must learn to walk down, but if you smilingly submit to the inevitable and make each day tell how much, rather than how little good work you can do you will be on the line of promotion and in time may rise, but think not the way is strewn with heartsease and roses; ah, there is many a bitter pang and sharp thorn that will pierce you, but if you dare to grapple with them you may even win in the great city.

GREATEST DEAL

Ever made in Big Sandy Coal Lands
Just Completed.

The largest real estate transfer ever entered for record in the Johnson County clerk's office is that of the Camden-Mayo Coal Co., to the Consolidated Coal Co., of West Virginia. The deal involves over 7,000 acres of valuable coal property located on the east side of the Big Sandy river in Johnson county and includes the major portion of the best coal lands in that section. While the deed does not state the consideration it is known that several million dollars changed hands in this deal.

The Consolidated Coal Co. is the largest coal operating company in the United States, if not the world. Mr. Clarence Watson, the multi-millionaire, of Baltimore, is the principal head of this gigantic corporation and he has associated with him a number of very wealthy capitalists including Mr. John C. Mayo, of Paintsville.

As outlined in a recent issue of The Herald the purpose of this deal is to at once open up the Miller's creek and Daniel's creek coal field as well as the Buffalo and Greasy creek field, and the prediction is now freely made by those in a position to know, that within the next year or two at the most the operation will be carried on on a very large scale. There can be no room for doubting that the Big Sandy river will be bridged at the mouth of Miller's creek and a railroad constructed up that creek, tapping that fine coal field. The development of the Miller's creek field is one of the cranes for the C. & O. locating machine shops in Paintsville and at the same time adding Paintsville a division point. Heavy traffic which will come to the road by reason of the development of the Miller's creek field will necessitate an almost network of tracks at Paintsville, and it is safe to say that the yards at Paintsville will be larger and more extensive than at any point on the C. & O. in Kentucky with the exception of Louisville.

Several years ago Mr. Mayo purchased large tracts of land on both sides of the river at the mouth of Miller's creek, having in view the development of this field. The C. & O. purchased a large boundary of land at its Paintsville depot, knowing in advance that the development of the Miller's creek field would require large railroad yards at Paintsville. All coal shipments from Miller's creek will be billed out from Paintsville, thus making the largest shipping point in Kentucky outside of Louisville.

In addition to the opening up of the Miller's creek field and the construction of a railroad in that section a trolley line is to be constructed from Main street, Paintsville, to Miller's creek. This line will be put in operation soon after work is started on the development of that coal field. This of course will result in Paintsville almost doubling in population within a year from the time the trolley line is put into operation, and not only this but business will boom at a rate most pleasing.

The statements made herein may seem remarkable and almost incredible but rather time will prove our predictions correct.—Paintsville Herald.

Commissioner's Sale.

Pursuant to a judgment of the Lawrence Circuit Court rendered at its April term, 1909, in case of Harmon Compton, Piff., against John Jordan, etc., Defts., undersigned will at the front door of the Court House in Louisa, Lawrence county, Ky., on the 21st day of June, 1909, offer for sale the following described tracts of land, or as much thereof as may be necessary to satisfy debt due plaintiff, Harmon Compton, to-wit: The sum of one hundred twenty-five dollars ($125.00) with six per cent interest from Dec. 30, 1908, until paid and cost of suit. Said land being in two tracts and described as follows:

First Tract—Situated in Lawrence county, Ky., and on waters of Morgan's creek and known as the James Marcum farm, bounded as follows: Beginning on a white oak, thence N. 86° W. 101 poles to two black gums near H. B. Hewlett's fence, thence running with the ridge fence as it now stands to a hickory; N. 58° E. 46 poles to two dogwoods; N. 33° E. 49 poles to the beginning, containing 31 acres.

Also, if necessary, the following described tract:

Second Tract—Adjoining the above tract of land which is an old purchase made by James Marcum from H. B. Hewlett, and described as follows: Beginning on two gums near said Hewlett's fence; thence S. E. to a beech at the end of a cliff at Marcum's fence; thence N. W. to a black gum, S. E. to a hornbeam; thence crossing the branch S. E. to a pine on a point of the ridge; thence an east course running with the cliff to two plum trees at a fall rock near V. B. Newsome's fence; thence a south course running down a drain to a rock at the forks of said drain; thence an east course running up the right hand drain to a stake at G. D. Hampton's line; thence a south course bounding on said Hampton's line to a white oak corner of G. D. Hampton's; thence with the old Hewlett line to the beginning. These tracts of land were conveyed by Marion Short and wife to John Jordan, recorded in Deed Book 46, page 582, Lawrence County Clerk's office.

TERMS. Sale will be made on a credit of six months with approved security payable to plaintiff, with lien retained on said land until paid in full.

Women Suffer

much needless pain when they delay using Cardui for their female troubles. Cardui has been found to relieve headache, backache, pain in the side and dizziness arising from deranged organs. It does more than relieve,—if used persistently,—many have written to say that it cured them.

TAKE CARDUI

It Will Help You

Mrs. Maxwell Johnson, Tampa, Fla., writes: "Cardui cured me after doctors and everything else had failed. I had been suffering with numb spells ever since I was 16 years old. One day I decided to take Cardui. I have now taken 5 bottles and I can say that it has cured me. I advise all suffering women to give Cardui a long and fair trial."

Mrs. Johnson suffered years. Have you? Do you wish to? But why suffer at all? Take Cardui. Give it a fair trial.
